

SUPPLEMENT TO THE CHRONICLE-STAR

Vol. LXXVI

PASCAGOULA, MISSISSIPPI, DECEMBER 24, 1920

Number 17

"AWAY GOES PRUDENCE."

As entertaining a picture as ever released with Billie Burke.

At the opening, the star is presented as an aviator, flirting with death. Her husband objects to her flying. They quarrel. He stands his ground, so she disappears, leaving a note as if coming from kidnappers demanding ransom. The husband learns it is a make-believe kidnapping, so he determines to turn the tables on her. He hires real toughs, and stages a kidnapping. Soon, however, the toughs turn on him. They hit him on the head with a gun, and carry the heroine away. They demand ransom of her father, but he only laughs at them, because he thinks it is a fake. The heroine, under their tuition, becomes a second story girl. They make her burglarize her own home. There she is caught by policemen. When her cap is lifted her anxious parents recognize her. They are overjoyed. The husband is now glad to consent to her flying, or doing anything she pleases. This picture will be shown at the Warfield next Thursday.

FAMINE FACTS FROM EUROPE.

The latest substitute for coffee in Poland consists of acorns roasted, ground and boiled.

An American concoction known as "Vienna stew" is the most popular dish in Central and Eastern Europe. Its ingredients vary but it has been known to contain beans, rice, pork, condensed milk and cocoa, at one and the same time.

A dish of the stew a day will keep a child alive, even if it receives absolutely no other food.

The cost of a dish of "Vienna stew," when served in the European Relief Council Kitchen, is less than four cents. For $1.00 a child can be kept alive, therefore, for a month, for $10.00 it can be saved from starving until next harvest.

In the first six months of 1920 the excess of deaths over births in Vienna was exactly 9000. Twenty-five per cent. of these were due to tuberculosis brought on by malnutrition.

In Poland for a total population of 28,000,000 there are just 4000 doctors. Last year 400 doctors died of disease.

In Austria they heat the hotels from 5 p. m., until 10 p. m., every evening. In Poland they heat the hospitals just twice a week. In private homes in both countries they rarely have heat at all. Coal is most unobtainable.

For every dollar contributed in America toward the relief of suffering in these countries, the countries themselves contribute two.

For $33,000,000 the European Relief Council will be able to supply food, clothing and adequate medical care this winter to 3,500,000 children in Central and Eastern Europe. Without the aid of the Council these children will die. Frank K. Lane, 42 Broadway is treasurer of this fund.

"DON'T EVER MARRY."

This is farce comedy, and the craziest, that is, the most complicated thing that has ever been produced. But there are good laughs all the way through.

This time, it is not the wife, but the husband who gets into difficulties. It seems that all the troubles—everybody else's troubles—in this world are piled up on him. He marries a young girl; but they keep it a secret from her father, because the latter has the reputation of being a "killer." Another young lady, to escape a hateful marriage, asks the hero to pose as her husband. He refuses on the grounds of being married. She threatens to tell his father-in-law. Fear makes him submit.

And this isn't all: The husband of a lady friend turns up and seeks to shoot and kill him, because he thinks the hero has stolen her affections. And so on down the line—whenever any woman is in trouble, she wants the hero to get her out of it. Don't miss this treat at the Warfield on next Friday, December 31.
